Plateau Cigars Selection

Cohiba

Cuban Cohiba's origins trace back to the middle 1960s, when a bodyguard of Fidel Castro shared some of his private supply of cigars made by a local artisan named Eduardo Ribera. These cigars pleased Castro so much that a special production of the unbranded blend, produced under tight security, was made for Castro and other top government officials.

Cohiba Panetega	£10.00
Cohiba Siglo I	£11.00
Cohiba Siglo VI	£32.75

Hoyo De Monterrey

In 1831, Don José Gener y Batet emigrated to Cuba from Spain at the age of thirteen, where he worked on his uncle's plantation in Vuelta Abajo. Twenty years later, he would open his own cigar factory in Havana and begin producing his own cigar line, La Escepción. In 1865, after using his factory's profits to acquire one of the best tobacco farms in Vuelta Abajo, he registered a cigar line named for it: Hoyo de Monterrey.

Hoyo de Monterrey Petit Robusto	£13.50
Hoyo de Monterrey Epicure	£17.00

Montecristo

In July 1935, Alonso Menéndez purchased the Particulares Factory, makers of the popular Particulares brand and the lesser-known Byron. Immediately after its acquisition, he created a new brand named Montecristo.

Montecristo No. 4	£12.00
Montecristo Petit Edmundo	£14.00
Montecristo No. 2	£22.50
Montecristo Sublime Limited Edition 2008	£35.00

Partagas

*This brand is named for its founder, Don Jaime Partagas, who began manufacturing cigars in 1827, but put his own name on his line of cigars in 1845. After his death, the brand passed to Ramon Cifuentes in 1889 and was owned by Cifuentes y Cia. prior to nationalization, earning a mention by name in English novelist Evelyn Waugh's 1945 work, Brideshead Revisited.*

Partagas Series D4	£16.00
Partagas Shorts	£9.50

Romeo Y Julieta

*The Romeo y Julieta marque was established in 1875 by Inocencio Alvarez and Mannin García. The brand is named for Shakespeare's famous tragedy, Romeo and Juliet.*

Romeo Y Julieta Petit Coronas	£10.50
-------------------------------	--------

Por Larranaga

Por Larranaga was registered in 1834 by Ignacio Larranaga. By the end of the 19th century, Por Larranaga had become a well-known premium cigar brand producing both expensive and inexpensive cigars. In 1925, Por Larranaga became the first factory to make machine-made cigars which soon resulted in a boycott by factory workers. At the time of the revolution, Por Larranaga was the sixth largest producing Cuban brand.
